Math—A State of Mine

III. Web Site Development

A web site is information that is logically connected, well presented, and easy to use. Your goal is to develop a web site showcasing your mathematician. As a class, we will discuss what needs to go into your web site. In the space below, write down what we came up with in the class discussion. You and your buddy need to each write the information.

Write which partner will keep the master design _____

Name: _____ Date: _____ Alphanumeric: _____

In the frames below, sketch the pages you are responsible for and give them working file names.
If you have more than 6 pages, we have extra paper.
